Holy Chocolate

“Every Sip Blessed”

Variety Descriptions

American

Bold, distinctive, sweet, and unpretentious. Like the American character.

Most Americans prefer a strong plain milk chocolate taste. But this is more distinct and sophisticated than standard milk chocolates. Call it an upper Medium strength chocolate. Its also creamy for people who aren't serious chocoholics. Sometimes one just wants an American style chocolate. Our most popular selection.

Amaretto

Amaretto liqueur flavor adds a warm, distinctive Italian flair for a fine chocolate. Intoxicatingly fragrant with slightly buttery flavor.

The flavor is sophisticated and does not mask the distinctive chocolate presence, but rather enhances it. Some of our customers tell us they drink it every day.

Amsterdam

In Amsterdam chocolate houses dot the city map in the same way coffee houses do here. When we first tasted this imported cocoa powder we knew we had to use it. This is our darkest, least sweet chocolate which is made with an incredible imported dutch red-cocoa.

Designed with the dark chocolate connoisseur in mind. True to its name it uses an incredible imported dutch-process red-cocoa from Holland. Its like drinking a 85% chocolate bar. Definitely for the chocoholic.

A good source of prebiotic fiber and antioxidants.

European

Imagine sitting at a street cafe in some enchanted European city sipping the finest hot chocolate you've ever tasted. The incredible aroma of chocolate and spices fills your nose while the velvety milk and strong cocoa fill your palate. The European is a strong chocolate with a fragrant blend of real cinnamon, nutmeg, and six other spices.

We recommend this for the serious chocolate gourmand because it has so much body and spectrum of flavor that one can really discover aspects of the chocolate that normally wouldn't arrive to the pallet. Even jaded chocolate professionals get surprised by this. It is a kind of resurrection of chocolate.

Mint Chocolate

Our mint hot chocolate is strong in cocoa, not too sweet, and has a magnificent clean tasting spearmint that isn't too strong, but is definitely present.

The Mint Chocolate was developed for a very helpful lady at a company that sells us packaging that especially loves mint chocolate. At our next meeting I finally presented her with our mint masterpiece. She drank it and said, “ Its cool, chocolaty, and refreshing... The mint is definitely refreshing! “

Swiss

The creamiest milk chocolate with a more subtle chocolate presence comes to mind when one thinks of Swiss chocolate. Using the same cocoa family as the Amsterdam this is our lightest, creamiest and sweetest cocoa for the fancier of milk chocolate and for traditional tastes. Velvety and mild. Sophisticated and satisfying.
